Coaches' Corner

Spotlight on a PBIS Coach

Position at School:

Assistant Principal/PBIS Coach at
 James Matthews Elementary School,
 Dollarway School District

David M. Sims

Favorite thing about PBIS:

I love the fact that PBIS allows our students to be role models of the school environment. They get to lead by example. I also like that PBIS improves our students' self-image through positive reinforcement.

Mr. Sims' Coaching tips:

- Model your expectations constantly & consistently.
- Be open to trying new ideas. Keep it fresh!
- Value the interests of your student body.
- Constantly track your school discipline data to see what is effective versus what needs to be modified.

Remember in September...

- Recognize staff for implementation efforts!
- Add school-wide assemblies and celebrations to the calendar!
- Establish a PBIS "spot" where staff congregate and post data, goals, and artifacts!

Have some great examples of these? Bring them to our Zoom Session! See below for details!

"To ensure the effective, efficient, relevant and sustained implementation of SW-PBIS, school staff members must receive information (data) that is accurate, timely, and easily available to guide decision-making." -Dr. George Sugai
